

Traveling to the Netherlands & Delft

The two main options to reach the Netherlands from abroad are through air or by train for countries that are closer, like Germany, Belgium, Luxemburg, France, and the United Kingdom (<https://www.thetrainline.com>).

Transportation

From Amsterdam Airport Schiphol, Delft is directly reachable in less than one hour by train. Detailed information about real-time public transport options in the Netherlands can be found at

<https://www.ns.nl/en>

<https://9292.nl/en>

or by downloading the “NS” or “9292” apps. This includes transportation by bus or tram within Delft and other close-by cities like e.g., the Hague and Rotterdam, which are no more than 15 minutes away by train. Information about how to obtain a visitor’s public transport card can be found at:

TU Delft

The TU Delft campus is situated within walking (15 minute) distance from the city center and is also accessible via public transport. The course will be given in a lecture hall within the building of the Faculty of Mechanical, Maritime and Materials Engineering (3mE) and is hosted by the Delft Center of Systema and Control (DCSC), which is one the seven departments of 3mE. The 3mE building (building number 34) is located at Mekelweg 2, 2628 CD Delft:
